

ABSTRACT

[0097] A system for controlling gain in a polar loop is disclosed. Embodiments of the invention provide for a substantially constant gain tolerant of changes in supply voltage, ambient temperature, and/or manufacturing process.